

JEALOUS WOMAN STAGES ATTACK ON MAIN STREET

Mrs. "Bob" Hargrove Gives Chase to Mabel Thurston.

DETECTIVES INTERFERE

Principals in Shooting Affray Meet Again.

Mrs. "Bob" Hargrove, who opened fire on her husband and Mabel Thurston in a room in the Madison hotel Wednesday afternoon, attacked the Thurston woman a second time as the latter alighted from an automobile in front of the law office of E. J. Giddings, her attorney, at 119½ West Main street. The women were separated by George Parish, a private detective, who is acting as the body guard of the Thurston woman. When she was prevented from reaching the other woman with her bare hands, Mrs. Hargrove reached inside of her coat with the declaration, "I'll shoot your heart out," according to Parish, who held her until City Detective John Heep arrived.

May File Charge.

Mrs. Hargrove was taken to the county attorney's office. She was not searched. An information charging her with assault with a dangerous weapon will be filed against her this afternoon, Assistant County Attorney John Du Mars said.

Since the shooting Wednesday the Thurston woman has employed a detective to act as a body guard, it is said. Hargrove was shot in both legs. He is confined to his room. Informations against Hargrove and the Thurston woman charging them with immorality were filed yesterday. Their preliminary will be held in Justice of the Peace Maupin's court this afternoon.

The Thurston woman was in police court this morning charged with occupying a room for immoral purposes and with vagrancy. Both cases were dismissed.

Chased Woman.

On West Main street the Hargrove woman stood in wait. She chased the Thurston woman and Attorney Giddings to the bottom of the stairway leading to the office, where she was stopped by Parish, who held her while the Thurston woman ran up the stairs and locked herself in the law office.

"If the law doesn't punish her I will She can't get away from me both," Mrs. Hargrove said, according to Parish.

JOKESTERS GIVE CHASE TO NEWLYWEDS; ESCAPES

Oklahoma City Youth Finds Rough Sailing After Marriage at El Reno.

When W. J. House, general freight and passenger agent of the Oklahoma Railway company, went to El Reno yesterday morning to get married, he had no idea of the trouble in store. He had made all arrangements to go away with his bride on the evening train.

At 5 o'clock yesterday evening Mr. House and Miss Margaret Hubbard of El Reno were married. Within thirty minutes Mr. House, unsuspectingly walked out of the home of his bride's parents—and into a crowd of men who are associated with him in the interurban express business.

Mr. House ran. There was nothing else for him to do, as the "mob" appeared ready to do him injury. There was an Oklahoma City-bound interurban car just leaving, and he boarded this. The would-be abductors, if such was their purpose, gave chase in two automobiles. Seeing that they would get him when the car stopped at Banner, Mr. House leaped off the car as it was slowing down and fled down the track toward El Reno.

"The last I saw of him he was running bareheaded down the track," said George W. Knox, who was on the car. "The mob was close after him, and I have not heard whether they caught him or not. I am satisfied, however, that his honeymoon is delayed."

No Final Sports

THE big league baseball season closed yesterday with the final games the Times discontinued the publication of the popular "Final Sports" edition. There will be no "Final Sports" on the street tonight. The "Late Street" edition will be the last regular edition of the day for the Times during the winter, except on Saturday during the football season, when a Football Extra will be put on the street about 6 o'clock.

PLOT FOILED

Theodore P. Shonts.

MORE SUSPECTED IN PLOT TO KILL TRACTION HEADS

New York Police Promise Additional Arrests.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The police promised more arrests today in connection with an alleged plot to kill Pres. Theodore P. Shonts of the Interborough Rapid Transit company and Frank Hedley, manager of the New York Railways company. Two men, said to be striking subway guards, arrested early today were held on charges of stoning an elevated train. The police declared they had evidence that these men were involved in the supposed conspiracy, but refrained from bringing such a charge against them until others were arrested.

Detectives Learn of Plot.

According to detectives, one of them who posed as a strikebreaker, got evidence ten days ago that plans were being made to kill Shonts and Hedley. The two traction officials were warned and given permission to carry pistols. The two men now under arrest, were closely watched until last night, when they were taken part in an attack upon an elevated train.

Prisoners Questioned.

The prisoners, who gave their names as Oscar Wallace and John J. Sheeran, were questioned for several hours today, but the police said that to reveal the result of this examination might hamper them in continuing their investigation.

CITATION ORDER AGAINST FRISCO ROAD DISMISSED

Attorney Withdraws "Tentative" Plans.

PAVES WAY FOR DEPOT

Corporation Commission to Act Soon.

Plans submitted several days ago by R. A. Kleinschmidt, Frisco attorney for the building of the Oklahoma City Frisco-Rock Island union passenger station are now ready for consideration and action by the corporation commission and the people of Oklahoma City.

Citation Dismissed.

The letter filed by Mr. Kleinschmidt when he submitted the plans to the commission, stating that the plans were tentative and that the Frisco was assuming no obligation, was withdrawn this morning, and the commission immediately dismissed the citation issued against the two roads for contempt for failing to comply with the order relating to the filing of plans.

It was stated at the office of the commission that the plans probably would be turned over to the Chamber of Commerce for inspection by the members of that organization and other citizens. The next procedure will be the issuance of an order by the commission, approving the plans, if it sees fit, and directing the building of a station as provided for by the plans.

Action Soon.

It is probable no action will be taken until after the dissolution of the present receivership of the Frisco and the reorganization of the road, which is expected to take place within the next thirty days. So long as the road is in the hands of the receivers no funds can be made available for the building of the federal court which directed the receivership. After the reorganization the commission will deal directly with officials of the road.

The plans provide for a station which in size and general appearance will closely resemble the Oklahoma City federal building. The arrangement of tracks and concourse will be patterned after the St. Louis union station. The building will be only one story of steel and concrete.

Mr. Kleinschmidt said today that negotiations are pending with private interests for the construction of a combination office and station building and if these negotiations terminate successfully the Frisco reserves the right to withdraw the plans now in the hands of the commission.

BROKER CHARGED WITH MURDER OF HIS WIFE

Steel Helmet Saves Life of Local Boy In European Battle

A steel helmet saved the life of J. C. Townsend, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Townsend of near this city, in a battle somewhere in France in September, according to a letter received by Mrs. Townsend today. The letter was written by Rev. Arthur S. Elliott, chaplain at a base hospital, where Townsend was taken on September 7, after he received a gun wound in the head. On September 19, Mrs. Townsend was informed by the Canadian government that her son was better; two days later another telegram said he was worse. Since then no word came from her son, until today. The son was graduated from the Oklahoma City high school a few years ago. He joined the United States army. When the European war broke out, he joined the Canadian army, and from September, 1915, to the time he was wounded he fought in the front trenches.

The letter from the chaplain, written in September, follows:

Nineteen-Year-Old Girl Accused of Laying Plot to Kill Cranberry King

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6.—Millicie de Marco, a 19-year-old Italian girl, is believed by the police to have engineered the plot which resulted in the murder of Henry Rider, wealthy cranberry grower, near Hampton, N. J., Thursday, and the shooting of three other persons. Millicie was an employee of A. J. Rider, president of the New Jersey Cranberry Growers' association. She and three other Italians are under arrest in connection with the murder, which grew out of an attempt to hold up the Rider party and rob them of a bag containing $5,000, the pay roll for the cranberry pickers.

The de Marco girl and three Italians arrested in this city late last night, were traced to the Italian colony here through the license number of an automobile. Police said this afternoon she had made damaging admissions.

A. J. Rider and his daughter, Mrs. Elsie Smathers, who valiantly drove the automobile after she had been wounded, and James N. Rigby, who also occupied a seat in the Rider car, at the time of the

DISDAIN FOR CAMEL COSTS LIFE OF THE CITY PARK OSTRICH

"HUMPY GRUNT," the camel in Wheeler Park, tried to renew old acquaintance this morning and his efforts resulted in the death of an ostrich named "Mabel," the big ostrich was a former resident of a race pen in Swope Park, Kansas City. "Humpty Grunt" lived in a pen nearby.

Commissioners here some time ago traded two bears to the Kansas City park for "Mabel" and "Reginald," her mate. They have been the aristocrats of Wheeler Park. Then the Shriners bought "Humpty Grunt" and moved him here and installed him in Wheeler Park.

This morning "Humpty Grunt" stretched his ugly neck over the fence and spit at "Mabel." "Mabel" twisted her long neck into an attitude of derision. She ran off to the opposite side of the pen, waving her head in disdain. In some manner her head struck the fence awkwardly. "Mabel" fell to the ground with a broken neck.

By the time park attendants reached her she was dead.

STRIKERS WILL ABANDON THEIR BENEFIT SHOWS

Tucker Brothers to Be Given Charge; Pickets Continue.

Operation of the Metropolitan theater by union strikers will cease Sunday when the house will be turned back to the Tucker brothers. Announcement was made this morning that the sublease held by the union men would be given up.

The Met has been operated by the union men for ten weeks for the benefit of the stagehands, the musicians, movie operators and the White Rats, who are on strike. Suit had been filed to oust the Tuckers, lessees of the building, who sub-leased it to strikers. It was taken on change of venue from the court of J. C. Martin, justice of the peace, to the court of O. L. Price and continued until October 12.

Union men declare that they have operated the Met at a profit during their term but that they give it up to devote more time to picketing the open shop theaters. They stated this morning that beginning Sunday every house in town under the strikers' ban will be more closely picketed than before.

WOMEN ARGUE OVER WILSON AS HE SMILES

Stop at Illinois Town Enlivened by Debate.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—President Wilson paid a brief visit to Chicago today en route from Omaha to Long Branch, N. J., where he speaks to a delegation of independents Saturday afternoon. An old time "home interest" debate between women over politics was witnessed by the president this morning when his train stopped for a few minutes at Melita, Ill. Most of the women wore sunbonnets.

"I like you but I'm going to vote for Hughes," said one woman to the president. Immediately all the other women present began a verbal onslaught on her.

Aren't You Ashamed.

"Aren't you ashamed of yourself?" one woman said.

"You know Wilson is the best man," declared another.

"Well, I'm going to vote for Wilson," stated a third.

"Ladies, ladies," exclaimed the president. "It's very embarrassing for me to be present at this debate."

A man present asked to shake hands twice with Mr. Wilson.

"My wife used to be a republican, but this year she is going to vote for you," he said.

President Satisfied.

The president himself expressed thorough satisfaction over the reception.

Editor Better Menu Contest, care Oklahoma Times.

Oklahoma City, Okla.

Dear Editor:

I am a young and very inexperienced housewife, having been a business girl until my marriage, and am often nearly driven to desperation to find a menu that is varied from that of every other meal. So I am writing to tell you how very much I appreciate the helpful menus and recipes I read in the Times, and also to ask a favor.

Will you please print a recipe as soon as possible, for making grape wine?

Gratefully yours,

HOME RULE SURE IF IRISH REMAIN SANE-REDMOND

Nationalist Says Goal Will Be Won.

NO CONSCRIPTION ORDER

Declares Government Will Not Force Conflict.

WATERFORD, Ireland, Oct. 6.—In a notable address to his constituents here this afternoon John Redmond, the Irish nationalist leader in parliament, declared that despite the recent rebellion "with all its inevitable aftermath of brutalities, stupidities and inflamed passions" home rule for Ireland is safe at Ireland remains sane.

No Conscription For Ireland.

Mr. Redmond also declared that conscription could never be forced upon Ireland, adding:

"I cannot bring myself to believe that malign, though the influences at work are, the government will be insane enough to challenge a conflict with Ireland on this subject."

Would Be Fatal.

"Conscription for Ireland, far from helping the army and the war, would be the most fatal thing that could happen."

"It would be resisted in every village in Ireland. Its attempted enforcement would be a scandal which would ring round the world. It would produce no additional men."

Six Thousand Enlist.

Continuing, the Irish parliamentary leader said:

"The mere threat is paralyzing recruiting, which, mark you, is not dead as some people say. The latest figures, indeed, show that from the date of the rising (Easter Sunday) until September, 6,000 recruits were received."

Seek to Injure Ireland.

"This demand for conscription is not a genuine military demand. It is a base political device put forward by men who want to injure and discredit Ireland's political future."

RETAILERS WILL CONSIDER MAIN STREET PARKING

Secretary Whitten Asked to Ascertain Sentiment.

Main street automobile parking was brought into the discussions of the Oklahoma City Retailers' association at its noonday meeting today in the Skirvin hotel, and was hammered and smashed, pro and con, almost beyond recognition. Some of the retailers were in favor of the present parking regulations; others expressed the opinion that as now constituted Main street regulations interfered seriously with retail trade. The upshot of the matter was that Secretary F. A. Whitten was requested to make a canvass of Main street property owners and report his findings at next week's meeting.

Unfair to Renters.

During the debate several merchants declared it manifestly unfair to renters and owners of Main street property who did not have locations on Main street should leave automobiles in front of stores all day, to the detriment of motorists who drive their cars uptown to trade. That a time limit of from thirty minutes to one hour should be set upon Main street parking was their suggestion.

Insurance Rates Discussed.

The fact that Oklahoma City's fire insurance rates are higher than those of Tulsa also brought about a debate which ended in the passing of a resolution asking that a committee of two and Secretary Whitten investigate the matter and see if any action can be taken toward lowering rates.

At the conclusion of the meeting retailers were called upon to tell the condition of their business during September. All reported that trade had increased from 50 to 100 percent over the previous September, and all were firm in the assertion that the State Fair was of direct benefit to their business.
